

Rosemary Russ
Impact 2030
2020-21 Update

My Impact 2030 project is focused on understanding the learning histories of those who are incarcerated in the local jail in Madison. However, due to the pandemic, the jail where I am conducting my research activity was closed throughout this year. Going forward, I will use my Impact 2030 funds for summer salary so that I can dedicate all my effort toward setting up learning experiences for the learners who will be the participants in my research. Having a summer salary will also allow me to spend more time physically in the jail (that is opening to outside volunteers this summer) developing relationships with Sheriff's office staff and other administration who control my jail access for the work I am doing.